DENARIUS OF JULIA DOMNA

DENARIUS OF CARACALLA

ANTONINIANUS OF CARACALLA

Julia Domna, Roman Empress

By CECELIA HUTT, San Francisco

The coins of the ancient peoples tell stories to those who will take the time to read them; and the Roman emperors Septimius Severus and his son, Caracalla, show their affection and respect for Julia Domna in the legends and reverses on the coins with her portrait that were issued during their reigns.

Julia Domna and Septimius Severus were married before he became emperor of Rome. This emperor, a native of Roman Africa who ruled Rome from 193-211 A.D., was a firm believer in astrology, and for his second wife he wanted one with a good horoscope. He chose Julia Domna because of her "royal" horoscope. She was the good-looking, intelligent and cultured daughter of a noble Phoenician who was a high priest of the Temple of the Sun at Emesa, Syria.

In her "Woman's Record," published in 1853, Sarah Josepha Hale wrote of Septimius Severus and Julia Domna, ". . . he almost always adopted her counsels, and mainly owed to them that high reputation with his army, which induced his troops in Illyria to proclaim him emperor." That is the opinion the author formed from her research on the subject, but history credits Septimius Severus with being a very capable soldier and leader. He died at York, Britain, in 211 A.D.

Two sons were born to them: Caracalla and Geta. Caracalla was named Bassianus at birth and later was renamed M. Aurelius Antoninus when his father was elevated to the purple. But he was nicknamed Caracalla because of the Gaulish-style long tunic he liked to wear, and that is how he is commonly known. Both of the sons were given the title of Caesar, and later were raised to the rank of Augustus by their father. These events were celebrated on the coinage.

Septimius Severus wanted his sons to be joint rulers when he died. They, however, hated each other, and thought that it would be a good idea to divide the empire, Caracalla to rule the European and North African sections, and Geta to rule Egypt and the Asiatic parts. Julia Domna didn't approve of splitting up the empire in this manner. The result of the bickering, mistrust and controversies was that, eleven months after the death of their father, the elder son, Caracalla, by use of trickery, had his brother killed in the arms of their mother, where Geta had run for protection. Caracalla denied that he was responsible for the murder, but his subsequent actions proved his hatred. Among means that he used to try to erase the memory of his brother from the minds of the people was the order that Geta's likeness and titles were to be removed from everything. Despite this, many coins of Geta have come down to us intact.

Caracalla's mind degenerated rapidly. This son of an able soldier-emperor and a clever mother was under the delusion that he was a reincarnation of Alexander the Great, and he tried to ape the renowned Macedonian, even assuming the title Magnus (the Great). When he accompanied his troops to many wars he left his mother, Julia Domna, to rule in his name. Septimius Severus had set the example of respecting Julia Domna's sound judgment. Then, too, Caracalla perhaps remembered that under Alexander's reign his mother, Olympias, had a great deal of authority. I can't find any evidence, though, that Julia Domna was a religious fanatic who ruled her sons for her own ends, as history says about Olympias.

Caracalla was murdered by the prefect of the guard, Macrinus, in 217. Not very long after this Julia Domna died, probably a suicide by starvation.

The silver content of coins had been lowered by some of the emperors who preceded Caracalla, and this emperor carried the process further by introducing the antoninianus. The antoninianus was rated as a double denarius, but weighed only one and one-half times the denarius, and didn't contain a higher proportion of silver than the denarius of that period. This depreciated the money, of course, but it also increased the variety of coins.

The coins struck for Julia Domna under Septimius Severus and Caracalla and after her death are in several denominations, including aureus, quinarius, antoninianus, denarius, sestertius, dupondius, as, and colonial and provincial bronze and silver. For the beginner-collector of ancient coins this should be a good field, because of the educational aspects, the diversity of the reverses, and because many of the coins are in the inexpensive class.

Among the reverses there are Concordia (harmony); Pudicitia (modesty, chastity); Hilaritas (rejoicing); Felicitas (happiness and prosperity); Pietas (piety, duty); Vesta (goddess of family hearth); Veneri Victrici (Venus Victorius); the legend MAT. AVGG. MAT. SEN. M. PATRI. The AVGG. means the plural of Augustus, so that the legend reads: Mother of the Augusti, Mother of the Senate, Mother of the Country.

Under Septimius Severus the Eastern background of Julia Domna was brought forward in reverses that show Julia Domna as Cybele, who was the Eastern Mother of the Gods. Another has the Eastern Goddess Isis, holding the infant Horus.

The antoniniani have the bust with diadem and crescent. One of the reverses on these has Luna Lucifera (the light bringer).

There were several CONSECRATIO coins struck after Domna's death, and one of these has the empress flying to her particular heaven on a peacock. The obverse legend is DIVA (divine) IVLIA AVGVSTA.

The colonial and provincial coins include some from the mints of Thessalonika, Corcyra, Cyprus, Capadocia, and Alexandria. One from Emesa has on reverse the altar of the sun-god Elagabal. The reverse on a Berytus, Phoenicia, coin shows the figure of Astarte, the Syrian Venus, within a tetrastyle temple, as well as other symbols.

In appearance, Julia Domna seems to have had pleasing and regular facial features. Her haircomb is quite a bit different from the coiffures used by the Roman empresses who preceded her. It appears to be a quite complicated hair arrangement, and probably indicates that Julia Domna didn't devote all of her time and thought to affairs of state. In my opinion she could have chosen a more becoming hairdo.

Julia Domna's coins seem to tell her story; i.e., that this daughter of a pagan priest was a cultured, educated, strong-minded, energetic but tactful and feminine woman. She apparently also was a devoted wife and mother of the Roman emperors who loved, respected and honored her.

$60,000 COIN STORE HOLDUP

Allen's Stamp and Coin Co., Long Beach, was looted of coins and stamps valued at $60,000 in December.

Two bandits handcuffed owner Jack Allen and forced him into the store restroom. They then emptied 18 display trays of coins into shopping bags. One coin alone was worth more than $1800.

Police have identified the two and know their record, which includes a long series of holdups. While serving time in a reform school, they studied stamps and coins.

Coins of the Thirty Years' War

By SIDNEY J. HAAS, Oakland

The Thirty Years' War was primarily a religious war, and full of the usual bitterness of such; yet it was full of political quarrels that divided it into a series of separate wars. Many of the military components in this war were private armies that owed their allegiance to their individual leaders, rather than being champions of a cause.

It started when Frederick, Elector Palatine of the Rhine, accepted the throne of Bohemia proffered him by the magnates of that country, while the Emperor Ferdinand considered that crown to belong to him. Fifty years before, the Convention of Passau had compromised the burning issues of the Reformation, but left everything else to the future. All questions as to secularization of church lands, or consecration of Protestant bishops, then came before the normal government machine; a Diet of the Empire so constituted that, though half the princes and nine-tenths of their subjects were Protestants, the voting majority was Catholic. The strongest side was that representing conservatism, peace and Catholicism. So, when war arose in Bohemia, the princes had formed a Protestant Union, promptly answered by the Catholic League which backed the Emperor. The important Protestant princes, however, jealously opposed aggrandizing the Elector's power, and so declared themselves neutral, and Frederick found himself isolated.

The initial struggles of the war were led by Ernst von Mansfeld, heading a mercenary corps, and Christian of Brunswick, against Tilly, the Emperor's general. The Emperor's revenge upon Frederick alarmed the Protestants, who rallied behind Mansfeld and Christian. Soon France and Spain, England and Denmark were involved. When the Emperor's troops were involved with Gabriel Bethlen, Prince of Transylvania, he employed one Wallenstein, or Waldstein, Duke of Friedland, in Silesia, to raise a mercenary corps to uphold his side. This man, who became one of the outstanding leaders of his time, later was rewarded by the Emperor with the Duchy of Mecklenburg.

Troops could be controlled when they were paid; but when their side was losing they were not paid, and consequently lived off the countryside. This factor became one of the most important of the war. The leader and the troops must plunder where they were; their movements were to be dictated neither by political nor military considerations. As soon as they had eaten up one part of the country, they moved on.

The war moved from Bohemia to West Germany; North Germany; South Germany; France; Italy; Alsace; Netherlands; Austria and Spain. It was to result in Portugal's regaining independence from Spain; France's occupation of Catalonia, and annexation of the Roussillon and Artois, and of Alsace. It was to give Sweden and its King Gustavus Adolphus a great military reputation, but redound to the disadvantage of the inept John George of Saxony. It would end with a Germany of only 1½-million people; the loss to Ger-

SAXONY — Silver quadruple taler of John George I, hinge pin in the war, who vacillated from one side to the other. He was at first a leader of the Protestant Party. Essentially a peaceful person, he went over to the side of the Emperor, hoping such action would end the war. Actually, it prolonged it. Such coins as this originally were struck by the Duke of Brunswick to raise funds for the war. He required known wealthy men to invest in them, and to show them on demand, so that the location of the wealth would be on record. Other rulers copied the practice.

many and the Empire of what is now northeastern France, Switzerland, Belgium and the Netherlands; it would see a France once more unified, but a Germany broken up into hundreds of independent states.

Coinage associated with the Thirty Years' War includes that of all parties in Germany; Austria, Transylvania, Switzerland, Netherlands, Belgium, France, Sweden, Denmark, Italy and Spain. There are many emergency and siege coinages, including French coinages in Catalonia and Italy, Metz, Strassburg and Besancon.

Thousands of illegal mints were opened by small towns and petty lords who did not have the right of coinage. These "hedgerow mints" issued vast amounts of lightweight and debased coin, to the extent that the period 1621-23 is called the "kipper period" in Germany. Many coins became permanently devalued. The gulden of Luebeck was called a mark. For 150 years the gulden had been the standard of value in the Hanseatic towns of North Germany. During this war the coins of which it was the standard multiple were so debased that it, as a money of account, descended from half a taler to one-third after 1648. The name "mark" ceased to be used as the name of a coin until 1873, when it was reintroduced as a new standard coin worth one-third of a taler or half a gulden in some states.

These kipper coins were often square, or blank on one side. Later a great many emergency coins were issued on square, oblong, or diamond-shaped planchets. They sometimes were siege pieces, and often were in odd values, which were called klippe taler, etc., as they appeared to be clipped out with shears.

ALASKA AND HAWAII STATEHOOD MEDALS OF HERALDIC ART CO.

Recent Issues of Tokens and Medals

HERALDIC ART MEDALS

Mailing date for the Kansas Centennial medal, sterling silver, seventh issue of the Heraldic Art series and first on its 1961 program, will be March 15. Other issues this year will be a Civil War centennial medal (Aug. 15) and a Tippecanoe medal (Nov. 15).

Distributed in January was a Pioneer Inventions medal, which commemorates anniversaries of the long rifle, 1710, and the Conestoga wagon, 1760. Joint legend, obv., PIONEER INVENTIONS; rev., OPENING THE WAY WEST. On obverse is a prowling wolf, barred by a flintlock long rifle; legend: LONG RIFLE 1710-1960. On reverse is a team hitched to a covered wagon; legend: 1760-1960 / CONESTOGA WAGON.

Designer was Robert A. Weinman, whose father designed the Liberty Walking half dollar and the Liberty (so-called Mercury) head dime.

The Heraldic Art series has as its aim to continue the tradition of the commemorative half dollars. Ruling principles are fine sculptured design, commemoration of significant events only, careful production in sterling silver of same diameter as the half dollar but thicker, and strict limitation of quantity struck. Each piece is carefully coined on a medal press. When an issue has been completed, the dies are defaced and presented to the Smithsonian or like institution.

Silver pieces sell for $3.25 singly or $6 for two of the same issue, with a limit of two like medals to a purchaser.

There have been limited strikings in gold, the 1959 series in 18 karat and the 1960 in 22 karat. There is a waiting list for the gold pieces, which sell for $50 plus $1 for insured handling.

Medallions and number struck thus far are, 1959 series: Alaskan Statehood, 5000 silver and 24 gold; Hawaiian Statehood, 5800 silver (4600 thin, 1200 thick) and 36 gold; St. Lawrence Seaway, 5900 silver (3900 thin, 1200 thick) and 48 gold. Series of 1960: Pony Express, 6000 silver and 48 gold; Boy Scouts, 7500 silver and 50 gold; and Pioneer Inventions, 6100 silver and 48 gold.

Medals may be purchased from Heraldic Art, Box 5891, Cleveland 1, Ohio.

ALASKA FESTIVAL MEDAL

The seal of Alaska, drawn by a Juneau draftsman in 1910 and refined by the Department of the Interior, first was used in early 1911. Adopted as the official state seal when Alaska became a state, it is the reverse design for the Alaska Festival of Music medal. Obverse design is that of conductor Robert Shaw's hands, reaching up over mountain tops. The design was suggested by the executive committee of the Alaska Festival Board of Advisors, in keeping with the Festival slogan, "Music to Match Our Mountains." ALASKA FESTIVAL OF MUSIC 1960 is obverse legend. THE SEAL OF THE STATE OF ALASKA is legend on reverse. Diameter, 1½ in.

Herff Jones Co., Indianapolis, Ind., manufacturer of the 1960 Olympics medal, struck the piece. Issues were 2500 bronze, 5000 bronze with loop, 304 silver and 2 gold. Distribution of the bronze pieces began in October and of the silver in December.

Recipients of the gold medals were Robert Shaw and Julius Herford, co-directors of the fifth annual Festival. First bronze medal was presented to Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest and first silver medal to President Dwight D. Eisenhower, during their 1960 visits to Alaska. Special presentations of second and third silver pieces were made to Mary Hale and Margaret Rutledge, executive director and comptroller, respectively, of the Festival.

The Alaska Coin Club, J. Francis Dusek, president, P. O. Box 325, Anchorage, Alaska, was sole distributor of the pieces. The bronze sold for $5; the silver, $10.

KANSAS CENTENNIAL MEDAL

Kansas centennial medals, struck in silver at the U. S. Mint, Philadelphia, were issued during February to Kansans only. The 20,000 struck were sold for $2.50 each.

Medals were distributed beginning Feb. 6, after buyers had been processed through the state's 596 banks and trust companies. Screening, to avoid duplication, allowed only one medal to one bona fide Kansan.

Kansas Centennial Distributors, Inc., 1316 W. 15th St., Topeka, Kans., has announced issue of an "official Kansas centennial coin" in bronze. According to Morris B. Williams, president, the medal was designed in part by the University of Kansas Art Department.

Bison, wheat ear and state seal appear to right of obverse center; above, MIDWAY USA; to lower left, CENTENNIAL / OF THE STATE OF KANSAS / 1861-1961. On reverse appears "Official Centennial Coin of Kansas, Land of Friendly and Neighborly People 1861-1961." Lower third of reverse is blank. Size 22. Price $1. In addition, Kansas Centennial Distributors announce that a medal will be struck for each of the 105 Kansas counties!

The medal also is available in sterling silver for $3.25; antique oxidized silver, $1.25; antique oxidized "gold," $1.35.

KANSAS CENTENNIAL MEDAL

Two different medals have been issued by "Coins," Dept. A, Sioux Falls, S. D., to commemorate the Kansas Statehood centennial. One has Kansas centennial seal on obverse; the other, the Kansas state seal which has been in use for the past 100 years.

Each medal is available in sterling silver at $3.50; in nickel-silver, $1.25; and in bright bronze, oxidized bronze, oxidized silver and gold plated, $1.50 each. Diameter, 33 mm. (size 21 — 1 5/16 in.).

COIN-OF-THE-MONTH CLUB

Merle A. Thiele of Sioux Falls, S. D., has announced formation of a "Coin-of-the-Month Club," which will issue a commemorative medal each month. January and February issues have been distributed, but there still are medals in all metals available to new subscribers.

According to Thiele, there will be a series of six to eight Civil War commemoratives during the next two years, statehood and territorial centennial issues, and commemoratives honoring famous Americans, events in American history and famous historical places.

Size of the medals is 33 mm. (Size 21). They are struck in sterling silver, nickel-silver (the regular issue), oxidized silver, bright bronze, oxidized bronze and gold plated bronze. Thiele asks opinions on elimination of all but two metals. (The editor suggests bronze and silver—bronze because it is said to flow best; therefore, adapts itself to pieces in high relief. Silver because it is the metal of the dollar.)

Subscription prices range from $12 a year for the nickel-silver to $42.50 for the sterling silver. Other prices may be obtained from Coin-of-the-Month, Box 738, Sioux Falls, S. D.

MARDI GRAS-VALENTINE MEDAL

Cupid with mask, bow and arrow is central obverse design of Mardi Gras medal issued by Michael Kirk, 1022 Burgundy St., New Orleans 6, La. Mardi Gras was held this year on Valentine's day, Feb. 14.

Date of first sale, Jan. 15. Total issue 5000.

The nickel-silver medal has seal of the city of New Orleans on reverse. Size 23. It is being sold by Kirk for $1.

Kirk plans the striking of a New Orleans-Mardi Gras medal to be an annual affair.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., TOKEN

A 50-cent bronze replica of the Confederate half dollar was struck in November under sponsorship of the Montgomery, Ala., Chamber of Commerce. It was first sold Oct. 12. Total issue: 15,000. The token bears Confederate seal on obverse; statement on reverse that it was good for 50 cents at any place of business or bank in Montgomery through Feb. 14, 1961.

It was at Montgomery, "Cradle of the Confederacy," that Jefferson Davis took the presidential oath.

Two agencies selling the piece are Charles Harbin Jr., 349 Tanglewood Dr., Montgomery, Ala., and Centennial Covers, P. O. Box 2015c, Birmingham 16, Ala. Harbin asks $1; Centennial Covers, $1.50.

CUMBERLAND, MAINE, TOKEN

The Cumberland County, Maine, 200th Anniversary committee sponsored striking of 35,000 bright bronze tokens in 1960. Wendell-Northwestern, Inc., was manufacturer. Size 21. Tokens may be obtained from Maurice A. Storck, P. O. Box 644, Portland, Maine, at 50 cents each, three for $1, plus stamped envelope.

Token, Medal and Paper Money Society

A new numismatic organization, Society of Token, Medal and Paper Money Collectors, has been formed on a provisional basis. Permanency of function as a corporate society has been set for April 1.

Provisional officers are Dr. George F. Fuld, Baltimore, Md., president; James J. Curto, Grosse Point, Mich., first vice president; Max M. Schwartz, New York City, second vice president; Mrs. Lucy A. Kelly, McKeesport, Pa., secretary-treasurer; and Clifford Mishler, Vandalia, Mich., librarian.

On the board of governors are Paul Hamm, San Diego, Calif.; Art Kagin, Des Moines, Iowa; John Ford, New York City; Harley Freeman, Miami, Fla.; Paul Fouts, Seattle, Wash., and Melvin Fuld, Baltimore, Md.

A quarterly bulletin will be published under editorship of Dr. Fuld. The editorial staff will include Russell Rulau of San Diego, Calif., and Ralph A. Mitchell of Fullerton, Calif.

Applications for charter membership will be accepted until April 1. Dues of $2, plus initiation fee of $1, may be mailed to Mrs. Kelly at 3410 Ford St., McKeesport, Pa.

Southern California medal and token collectors have formed the Southern California Exonumist Society, and have affiliated with the national group. Paul Hamm, San Diego, is provisional president, and on the board are Ralph A. Mitchell, Leonel C. Panosh and Dr. Calvert L. Emmons. Russell Rulau is secretary.

"Exonumist," according to Rulau, who coined the word, is derived from the Latin prefix "exo" (out of, out from, aside from) and "nummus," (a coin).

FOREIGN COIN SOCIETY

A group in the Santa Monica area recently formed a Society for International Numismatics.

According to the organizers, principal interest of the Society will be the study of foreign coins. "The Society will be a service organization composed of persons particularly interested in publishing and lecturing on foreign coins. To further this end, contact will be maintained with numismatists in all parts of the world.

"It is proposed that members will publish research papers on specialized numismatic topics; one such project will be a coin encyclopedia combining numismatic, historic and geographic information."

Fred E. Draper Of Upland Dies

Fred E. Draper, 70, of 594 N. Laurel Ave., Upland, died Jan. 5 following a heart attack. Funeral services were held Jan. 7 at Draper Memorial Chapel by the Rev. Robert N. McLean of the First Presbyterian Church, Upland. Private entombment followed in Bellevue Mausoleum.

A native of Canada, Draper was born in Portage, LaPrairie, Manitoba, July 15, 1890, the son of James B. and Louise Mutrie Draper. The family migrated to Ontario, Calif., in 1894, and Fred had lived in the Ontario-Upland community for 66 years.

He attended public schools of Ontario and studied at the University of Southern California.

He was married April 17, 1917, to Miss Miriam Friend.

In 1920 he founded the Draper Insurance Agency in Upland. In 1946 he sold half interest to William R. Walton, and in 1957 retired from insurance activities. He was president and part-owner of the Draper Mortuary, Ontario, of which firm his son, Newman, is manager.

Active in civic affairs, Fred was a former board member and president of the Upland Chamber of Commerce, a former Upland city councilman, former president of the board of trustees of the Upland School District, former board member of the Upland Library, charter member and former president of the Upland Lions Club, secretary of the Upland chapter of the American Red Cross, Boy Scout Counselor, and member of the First Presbyterian Church.

He was a member of the California State Numismatic Association, American Numismatic Association, Canadian Numismatic Association, Sociedad Numismatica de Mexico, Orange County Coin Club and San Bernardino County Coin Club. He had held office in the last two. An active exhibitor, he won three published awards in ANA National Coin Week competition. He was listed in "Who's Who in California Numismatics" in March 1954.

Fred collected Canadian coins, transportation tokens, U. S. type coins, local national currency and crown-size coins of the world. He began collecting coins in 1936, as did three other members of the Ontario-Upland community, Dr. Calvert L. Emmons, William Totman and Charles V. Kappen. The four became fast friends and together attended coin meetings in homes of the area prior to formation of the Orange County Coin Club. Needless to say, the editor and writer feels a great personal loss in the death of Fred Draper.

Surviving are his widow, Miriam F. Draper, a son, three daughters, 10 grandchildren, a sister and a brother.

1913 LIBERTY NICKEL IN SALE

Edwin M. Hydeman has consented to inclusion of his 1913 Liberty Head nickel in the auction to be held in conjunction with the convention of the Numismatic Association of Southern California March 3-5, according to A. Kosoff of Encino, cataloguer.

The sale also will include the Idler 1804 dollar, the 1894S dime out of the "World's Greatest Collection," and the 1876CC 20-cent piece which Hydeman acquired in the Jerome Kern sale.

Some numismatists feel that a new price record will be set for a single American coin. The 1804 dollar in Stack's sale Dec. 10 brought $28,000 — highest amount ever bid to date.

Brief Histories of Convention Hosts

THE EAST BAY COIN CLUB

By R. G. McARTHUR

In answer to invitations from Elwood Ellinger and Mona Money, some 60 persons assembled at Jenny Lind Hall in Oakland April 16, 1948, and formed the East Bay Coin Club.

Under the guidance of Robert G. McArthur as temporary chairman and Jim Rogers as secretary, the club functioned until its constitution and by-laws were adopted Oct. 8, 1948. First regular election was held Dec. 10, 1948, and a full complement of officers replaced the temporary appointees.

The club publishes a monthly bulletin, The Circulated Proof, which has appeared on time each month since its initial issue of February 1949.

On Nov. 15, 1953, with Walt Ritchie in charge, the club held its first annual all-day meeting. Always well attended, the "Coinival" features bourse tables, auction, competitive exhibits and refreshments.

Prior to the coming April state coin show, the East Bay Coin Club has been host for two CSNA conventions. The first was held April 21-23, 1950, with the Hotel Leamington, Oakland, as site and R. G. McArthur as general chairman. The second, April 28 to May 1, 1955, with Gilbert D. Eaton as general chairman, had for its headquarters the Hotel Claremont, Berkeley.

A member-of-the-year plaque has been awarded annually since 1953 to the member who has done most for the club.

In National Coin Week competition for Class A clubs, the East Bay Coin Club won second award for 1959 and third award for 1958, both times under the chairmanship of Lewis A. Moorman, assisted by Don T. Thrall.

Robert G. McArthur, first president, has been succeeded in that office by A. W. Ritchie, Stanley S. Hawley, Gilbert D. Eaton, Don T. Thrall, Leo A. Young, Roy Hill, N. L. Baldwin and Edward S. Lane.

Regular meetings are held the second Friday of each month, 8 p.m., at Bjornson Hall, 2258 MacArthur Blvd., Oakland.

HAYWARD AREA COIN CLUB

By DOROTHY E. BEAULIEU

Like just about everything else these days, coin clubs are booming. Not the least of which is the Hayward Area Coin Club, co-host of the CSNA spring convention. Although a comparative newcomer to the ranks of bay area organizations, this robust 3-year-old has a membership of more than 260.

In January 1958, several dealers and collectors, recognizing the need for a coin club in the Hayward area, began holding informal meetings at the Hayward Coin Shop, operated by Wendell Hooker. A steering committee composed of Hooker, Charles N. Peters, George R. Squires, Joseph Butcher, Myrthine Godby Robinson, Ed Fogler, George Gonsalves, Charles Sweitzer, Peter J. Murphy and others conducted club affairs until a slate of officers could be elected.

Meetings originally were held once a month at the Hayward Airport Recreation Hall. However, increased attendance and the demand for bi-monthly meetings necessitated a move to Eagles Hall, Castro Valley. A feature of the club from its inception has been the twice-yearly Coin Fairs, usually held in late spring and fall. The last two events have attracted more than 350 guests, 25 bourse dealers and 20 exhibitors.

The seventh semi-annual Coin Fair is slated for late May 1961 at the Southern Alameda County Labor Temple in Hayward. Proceeds from these affairs have purchased 24 exhibit cases, motion picture camera and projector and a public address system.

The Blank Planchet, official club bulletin, is in its third year, having progressed from a one-page mimeographed sheet to photo-produced 8- and 12-page issues. R. D. Booth is present editor. Charles N. Peters was president during the first year. Walter Morris, Harold Pape and George Ackel followed. L. M. (Buzz) Bacon is current president.

—————CSNA—————

Leonel C. Panosh, first secretary-treasurer, served four years in that capacity and two and one-half years as bulletin and Calcoin News editor.

Who's Who In California Numismatics

By JAMES G. BROCK

Howard F. Bowker is known to numismatists throughout the world as the man to see when a piece of money with strange Oriental markings needs to be identified or classified.

Few know him, however, as editor, librarian, philatelist, collector of numismatic and philatelic bookplates, and amateur printer and bookbinder.

These interests and hobbies are related. He has built one of the largest special-interest libraries on East Asian numismatics in the United States.

Since 1924 Bowker has been collecting coins and stamps of East Asia — China, Korea and Japan.

He became interested in the culture of the Oriental countries while serving in the Navy at a supply depot in Hankow, China. There he began collecting books and articles on both coins and stamps. This was the start of his large East Asian coin collection and the many books that line the walls of the large library in his home in the Montclair Hill area of Oakland.

He also has written many articles and reviews on coins of East Asia for numismatic magazines in the United States and England. This background has helped transform the retired lieutenant commander from a Navy career to a respected place in the coin and stamp world.

Born in Winona, Minn., Jan. 3, 1889, Bowker attended school in Chicago, then worked as timekeeper and assistant foreman for the Peoples Gas Light and Coke Co. He later moved to California, where he worked in the circulation department of the Los Angeles Times.

Enlisting in the Navy in 1911, Bowker served in World Wars I and II. During 34 years service, he held every enlisted, warrant officer and commissioned officer rank up to and including lieutenant commander. When he retired from the service in 1945, he had been writing articles and reviews for publication in numismatic magazines for five years.

Bowker served on the USS Jupiter, before it was refitted and commissioned the Langley, first U.S. aircraft carrier. He also served on the USS Saratoga. He was supply officer of the USS Whitney and the USS Clytie during World War II.

He was assistant supply officer at Cavite, P. I., and at the naval station, Guam, 1938-1940. During the war he was chief warrant officer on the troop transport USS West Point, a ship later to be named the USS America.

Known as "H.F." to his many friends throughout the world, Bowker will be working for the next few months on more than 10,000 East Asian coins sent to him from Germany for cataloguing.

Today, Bowker is East Asian consultant to the Division of Numismatics of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C. In 1959 he spent three months at the Smithsonian classifying "an enormous lot of coins."

Bowker worked eight hours a day for the entire three months, identifying and classifying the coins.

"My present connection with the Smithsonian is replying to the many numismatic inquiries it receives on East Asian coins, and identifying all the institution's new acquisitions in this field."

Bowker is well known for his many contributions to numismatic literature. He edited the China section of Wayte Raymond's Coins of the World, both eighteenth and nineteenth century volumes, breaking down the various coin classifications. He says, however, that this contribution did not include pricing the coins.

To this date he has contributed 16 articles to The Numismatist, published reviews of Chinese and Japanese numismatic publications in Numismatic Literature, compiled A Bibliography of the Far East for Numismatic Notes and Monographs, and has had nine articles and seven reviews accepted by Coin Collector's Journal. Many other articles have been printed in Calcoin News, Numismatic Scrapbook, Seaby's Coin and Medal Bulletin of London, and the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society Bulletin.

In 1935 he was accepted to membership in the North China Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society in Shanghai, and is a life member of that organization. He is a member of the standing committee on Oriental coins of the American Numismatic Society, which he joined in 1940. He is a Fellow of the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society, which he served as bulletin editor during 1951 and 1952. He now is librarian for the PCNS. Bowker joined the California State Numismatic Association in 1959 as member No. 1000.

Violetta and Howard Bowker's three sons also served in the armed forces during World War II. Howard F. Bowker Jr., a major and pilot in the U. S. Marine Corps, and Gordon A. Bowker, a lieutenant on the U. S. submarine Argonaut, were war casualties. Irving Bowker, 38, formerly a lieutenant in the U. S. Army, now is assistant manager of a Travelodge in Salinas.

Recently, Howard Bowker bound sets of Calcoin News for the CSNA and for the Smithsonian Institution. He also has bound and repaired books and magazines for himself and his many friends. He and his wife have bound more than 800 books.

Bowker is editor of Pa Kua, bulletin of the Chiu Chin chapter of the China Stamp Society. The chapter is located in the San Francisco bay area.

Have a strange coin with Chinese characters on it? The reference library, the 25 years experience in cataloguing coins, and the ready smile and willing heart of a man who has given a major part of his life to retaining the knowledge and discoveries of the numismatics of East Asia will be able to help you find your answer. All you have to do is ask.

Clarinda

23¼ x 61¼ in.

Dated April 10, 1933. Printed in black on white paper over orange obverse and green reverse backgrounds (except $5 denomination, on which colors are reversed) by Goe. Ornamental border in background color. Printed signatures of J. H. Peterman, president, and F. J. Rogers, secretary. Serially numbered in black except for a limited issue of the $5 denomination numbered in red. Reverse bears statement that the scrip was exchangeable for warrants issued by the City of Clarinda, Clarinda Public Schools, and Page County, Iowa, and were payable after the warrants had been paid by makers. Notice of redemption by serial number was then published in a local newspaper, whereupon holder had 30 days to present certificate at Chamber office for payment.

10. 25 cents. 11. $1. 12. $5. Plate. 12a. $5, red serial.

According to Russell L. Hutchings of Clarinda, $12,950 in scrip was issued in April 1933. This was redeemed from time to time in lots of $2000 and $3000. Small sums were placed back into circulation at times and new notes replaced badly worn ones. All scrip presented for redemption was paid by January 1934. In January 1934, another issue put $13,500 back in use, all of which was redeemed by May 31, 1934. All scrip was redeemed except about $75 worth, which never was presented for redemption, Hutchings said. The scrip was unpopular because merchants would not give cash in change and banks would not accept it.

Summary of Presidential Term

It soon will be time for me to hand the presidential reins to my successor. So this will be my farewell message as President to the members and co-workers in CSNA.

I have served various kinds of organizations and groups, both as working member and officer, but none of these has given me as much pleasure and satisfaction as has come to me in the years it has been my privilege to serve CSNA. Credit for this is for the most part due to the fine cooperation of the officers serving with me and to response of the members who were called upon to help with conventions and other activities. It is to all of these that I wish to express my thanks and appreciation.

In my humble opinion it seems reasonable to claim that a substantial measure of progress has been achieved by CSNA during the past two years. Membership has shown a steady growth without the expedient of a drive to take in others than those who are genuinely interested in numismatics. At the same time the rule to drop delinquents without deferment has been strictly enforced.

Conventions have been well attended and successful in performance and financial balances. The treasury is in sound condition and shows the highest cash position in the history of the organization. Future convention meetings have been scheduled far ahead. Both spring and fall meetings for 1962 and 1963 are set, and arrangements are now under way to hold the fall convention in 1964 at Disneyland. Thus host clubs have an early start for planning and getting ready for the events they are sponsoring. Enough new exhibit cases have been acquired so that we now have sufficient cases in both north and south without having to transport any from one area to the other for conventions. Steps also have been taken to duplicate other equipment that formerly had to be transferred every year.

A most important step was taken when the by-laws were changed in 1960, providing for a two-year term for officers instead of a one-year term previously in effect. This enabled officers to become familiar with administrative duties so that problems could be worked out before a change in administration would intervene.

Another change of significance was doubling the remuneration for services rendered by the Secretary and the Editor of Calcoin News. The increasing amount of work performed by these officers deserved more than a mere token compensation. Not many members can qualify for these positions and only a few of those who are qualified would care to accept appointment to them.

The change that was made to publish Calcoin News quarterly instead of bi-monthly as before has greatly improved the handling of this important phase of CSNA activities. It is giving us a better magazine at less cost. Moreover, it is easier on the hard-working editorial staff to whom CSNA owes so much.

Although a great deal has been accomplished and moves, such as incorporation, have been started to improve CSNA still more, there are still some areas in which the next administration can achieve continuing progress.

It has been ordered that a study be made in order to decide when and how a Californiana Collection can be established. The final steps to implement this move will be taken at the April meeting in Berkeley. To facilitate the accomplishment of this undertaking it is proposed that by-laws of CSNA be amended so that the present office of Historian-Curator will henceforth become two offices. The Historian already has enough work to keep him busy and should not be burdened with additional duties that will devolve upon him if the Californiana Collection is established. Attention is therefore called to the proposed amendment appearing elsewhere in this issue, that is designed to accomplish this change, provided, of course, that approval of the membership is obtained.

With this final recommendation and a request to all members to continue with their loyal support of those who will be in charge from now on, I am ready to relinquish my title and the duties that go with it. I will gladly take a back seat, but will still help as best I can to make CSNA the best and strongest state numismatic group in the country.

Historian's Notes

On display for the first time at the 28th state convention in Berkeley-Oakland April 13-16 will be the start of the CALIFORNIANA COLLECTION. Anyone wishing to donate material to the collection may send it either to Bryan O. Burke Jr., San Bernardino, or to me. No more than two of each specimen, to show obverse and reverse, will be needed. Any donation above two of any item will be returned to the donor if he so requests.

Also on display will be two binders filled with historical information on CSNA awards — medal of merit, past president's medal, literary awards medal, best-in-show exhibit medal, and the John E. Ohls Memorial plaque. Letters of past presidents, listing terms of office, officers and board members, and conventions held, have been prepared by the historian and will be exhibited. The complete set of convention ribbons, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Knickerbocker, also will be displayed.

I would like to receive any letters from past presidents and general chairmen which pertain to conventions. The need for ribbons, programs, pictures, auction catalogs, newspaper accounts or anything else pertaining to conventions, still exists. Particularly wanted are first convention, Bakersfield, 1947; second convention, Fresno, 1948; third convention, Santa Monica, 1948; eleventh convention, San Bernardino, 1952; twelfth convention, Merced, 1953; sixteenth convention, Oakland, 1955; eighteenth convention, San Jose, 1956; twentieth convention, Vallejo, 1957; and twenty-third convention, Riverside, 1958.

Want lists for Calcoin News keep pouring in from members who wish to complete their sets and have them bound. At this writing, I have requests for the following (number of requests in parentheses):

Vol. 1, No. 3 (4); Vol. 2, No. 1 (10); Vol. 2, No. 2 (11); Vol. 2, No. 3 (5); Vol. 3, No. 1 (2); Vol. 3, No. 2 (7); Vol. 3, No. 3 (7); Vol. 3, No. 4 (4); Vol. 4, No. 1 (3); Vol. 4, No. 2 (4); Vol. 4, No. 3 (4); Vol. 4, No. 4 (3); Vol. 4, No. 5 (3); Vol. 5, No. 1 (3); Vol. 5, No. 2 (2); Vol. 5, No. 3 (2); Vol. 5, No. 5 (3); Vol. 5, No. 6 (4); Vol. 6, No. 4 (6); Vol. 7, No. 3 (5); Vol. 11, No. 1 (4); Vol. 13, No. 2 (4); and Vol. 14, No. 4 (6).

My thanks to Herman Prager and Chuck Peters for contributions of Calcoin News and convention ribbons, and to Mr. and Mrs. Leonel C. Panosh for color snapshots of the San Diego convention.

The California State Numismatic Association was formed Feb. 22, 1947. Dr. Calvert L. Emmons, Ontario, was first president, serving two terms. He also has served eight years on the board of governors. He now is president emeritus.

South of the Tehachapis

By CHARLES M. JOHNSON

Numismatic activity in Southern California has exploded to another all-time high this winter. At last count 51 coin clubs (36 in Los Angeles area, eight in San Diego and seven in nearby areas), are active with a great variety of meetings, talks, coinoramas and special events.

In addition, Numismatic Association of Southern California and the San Diego County Inter-Club Numismatic Council are bringing to their respective areas big-time coin shows with fabulous auctions, exhibits and well-stocked bourses.

Even the additional space provided for the NASC convention proved inadequate when 90 bourse bealers paid $55 each for a table and more than 35 late-comers were turned away.

San Diego Inter-Club Council is planning a joint meeting of all club members in the area March 6, featuring program, auction, exhibits and refreshments. The Council has purchased lighting equipment to light displays at its annual Coinorama. It also may be borrowed by member clubs for their coin shows and displays. Plans are being made for standardized exhibit cases for use by all clubs in the San Diego area.

TWO NEW CLUBS

Compton Coin Club is being formed, with 30 paid-up members attending the first meeting. The club will meet on the third Monday evening of each month at the Compton Community Center, Compton and Alemada, Compton. Club officers are Blain Milliron, president; Ernst Alter, vice president; Ernst Alter Jr., secretary; and F. H. Randall, treasurer.

B. E. Mountjoy of Monrovia heads a group organizing the Monrovia Coin Club. It will meet on the second Monday of each month at Odd Fellows Hall in Monrovia.

At the January meeting of the Los Angeles club, David Roland, postal service representative, spoke and presented a film, "Our American Credo," which featured the significance of the six American Credo stamps, how stamp designs are chosen and how the Postmaster General's Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee acts. The talk included a short discussion of the postal service, stamp manufacture, commemoratives and information about the operation of the Los Angeles post offices.

REFERENCE MATERIAL

Dr. Verner Rich of Fullerton spoke at the February meeting of the Los Angeles club on "Numismatic Reference Material." Dr. Rich said, "You cannot enjoy or invest in coins unless you have books. They are like a road map that guides you in your travels with coins. Many numismatic books have become collector's items." Dr. Rich displayed a number of older coin books, the oldest dated 1557, and several numismatic books in foreign languages.

At the 270th regular monthly meeting of the Orange County club, 117 members and guests were present and four new members admitted, the most recent being No. 820.

President Dan Harley called on Charles V. Kappen, editor of Calcoin News and professor of journalism at San Jose State College, for a few remarks. Editor Kappen discussed Calcoin News and requested that numismatic articles be submitted for publication. President Harley praised Calcoin News as being one of the leading regional numismatic publications and credited Editor Kappen for this success.

Winn Osborne, former president of the club and secretary of the California State Numismatic Association, showed colored slides of events at the last two CSNA conventions.

Next on the program was Charles Colver, in one of the best talks of the many that he has given at the club. Colver spoke on British Colonial coins. In a very fine display, he showed 144 of these coins, representing as many colonies. About 15 coins are needed to complete his collection of one coin for each colony.

The talk began with the history of the earliest colonial coins made for India about 1519 during the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Many coins were issued during the succeeding reigns of British monarchs, in all denominations and metals commonly used by the mother country. Both British and colonial mints issued these coins. The speaker also had on display a set of 17 different Queen Victoria Jubilee coins.

Thirteen exhibits honoring two presidents born in the month of February, Washington and Lincoln, were made at the February meeting of the San Diego Numismatic Society. With newly elected Douglas Decker presiding, 140 members and guests viewed the following exhibits: Anna Panosh, Purple Heart medal awarded to her husband in the first World War and a Medal of Honor awarded to General Shafter in the Civil War; Roger Sullivan, 1955 double-struck Lincoln cent; Frank Powell, Civil War tokens; L. L. Lundberg, Washington quarters; Paul Hamm, coins and medals that commemorate some events that occurred during the month of February; Francis Jones, Washington medals; Gary Beals, South American crowns; A. F.

Andersen, Panamanian coins; Scott Clem, foreign currency; Frank Hernandez, more than 350 different pieces of foreign paper money; Thomas McDaniel, bus and parking meter tokens and California medals; Reagan Ratliff, U. S. coins; and Leonel Panosh, "things that he collects." Ribbon winners were Frank Hernandez, first; Paul Hamm, second and Francis Jones, third. How does San Diego do it?

P. F. MacFarland, local Santa Barbara insurance agent, spoke at the January meeting of the Santa Barbara Coin Club on "Insurance as It Pertains to Coin Collecting." He discussed the coverage available, how to go about securing insurance, and costs. "With 15 to 20 robberies reported in coin publications each month, insurance becomes important," he said.

SINGLE COIN PROGRAM

Several coin clubs recently have devoted their full meeting programs to reviews and discussions of a single U. S. coin denomination or series. One of the most recent of such programs was reported by the Santa Barbara Coin Club secretary as follows:

"The Lincoln cent program was introduced with a question and answer

JERRY COHEN of Coin Gallery exhibits at Sloan's of Beverly Hills, Calif. Among items displayed were scarce coins of Thailand. The exhibit was made up of material purchased by Abner Kreisberg during his recent trip around the world.

period. Al Edison followed with a remarkable list of statistics on the Lincoln cent. Mr. Jung displayed a log cabin built out of rolls of Lincoln cents. This produced considerable laughter and a standing ovation for Jung. (It has been a constant sore spot with several members that so much space and attention is devoted in coin publications to rolls.)

Ray Bower gave a brief history of the Lincoln cent; how it came to be designed, mainly through the efforts of Theodore Roosevelt; how the initials of the designer on the coin met with public disapproval.

Don Jurgensen gave a run-down of trends in Lincoln cent collecting, including prices. He illustrated his talk with various catalogs listing the cents, starting with a 1936 advertisement of a 1909S VDB in VF for 3 cents to the present price of $20 or more.

Then a series of locally prepared slides on grading Lincoln cents were shown. Members were asked how they started collecting, and many reported starting with Lincoln cents. A show of hands indicated 15 completed Lincoln cent sets among club members, of which three were formed from circulation.

SANTA BARBARA AREA

Santa Paula (Glen City Coin Club) meets on the first and third Thursdays at Norm's Hobby Shop.

Ventura County Coin Club meets on the second Monday at the Recreation Center.

Ojai Coin Club meets on the first Tuesday at the new bank building.

Santa Barbara Coin Club meets on third Monday at Carrillo Hotel, Santa Barbara.

Culver City Coin Club now meets monthly on the second Thursday at 3835 Watseka Ave., Culver City. This club, started in November 1958, now has 106 paid-up members and an average meeting attendance of 60. The January meeting featured a talk by William Foxall on regular issue half dollars. In February, C. A. Dunbar talked on commemorative coins.

BANQUETS AND INSTALLATIONS

Orange County Coin Club's annual banquet and installation of officers was held in January at the club's headquarters in Brea with guests and members in attendance from many places in the Los Angeles area and a sizeable delegation from San Diego. A four-girl barbershop quartet, which recently won top honors in national competition, entertained, and Lloyd Prante addressed the banquet group with an instructive mixture of humor and wisdom. Leonel Panosh from San Diego was M. C.

Garden Grove Coin Club reported about 150 in attendance for its annual potluck banquet. Ralph Mitchell was M. C. and speaker.

Long Beach Coin Club's annual banquet and installation was held at the Hawaiian Restaurant party room in Long Beach, with Hawaiian food and entertainment. Charles M. Johnson of the local club emceed the program.

CAVEAT EMPTOR

Caveat Emptor was the subject of Henri Heller at the February meeting of the Long Beach Coin Club.

"Let the buyer beware of those who sell castings, electrotypes, false die coins and altered coins," Heller said, "for today there is considerable traffic in this material." After describing many of these items that have come to his attention as a dealer, he said, "the best protection is to know the coins you buy by using your head as well as your eyes; study each coin carefully, deal with reputable people and secure guarantees of genuineness and ownership in cases of questionable pieces. Above all," he said, "never help a fraud along by reselling a questionable piece, but go back to the seller."

HERE AND THERE

Numismatic Association of Southern California has held many Sunday afternoon meetings getting ready for its big coin show. . . . San Bernardino County Coin Club held a special annual auction of 92 lots of choice material in January, which featured a printed list and description of all items. . . . Charles Colver, finance chairman for the Orange County Coin Club's 1964 convention fund, reports that $300 is already on hand and the fund is growing rapidly. Three years advance preparation for the CSNA convention in 1964 and the concurrent 25th anniversary celebration of the Orange County club is definitely something of a record. . . . Karl Brainerd showed slides of his recent trip into remote areas of the Indian country in Old Mexico at the January meeting of the Bay Cities Coin Club. . . . Pomona Coin Club, one of the relative newcomers in the area, had an average monthly attendance last year of 133 at each meeting. . . . Santa Barbara Coin Club has named its monthly club bulletin the "Santa Barbara Coin Club Newsette" as a result of a naming contest won by Henry Jung. The bulletin contains two pages of lively information about club activities. . . . San Diego Numismatic Society now limits the number of bourse dealers at club meetings to eight and charges an $18 annual fee for bourse space. . . . Dr. Calvert Emons installed new officers for the San Diego club at the annual banquet held in the Stardust Room of the Stardust Motor Hotel in Mission Valley.

North of the Tehachapis

By DOROTHY E. BEAULIEU

Sacramento Coin Club played host to 145 children from three orphanages at a Christmas party in December. Enjoyment for guests was provided by fire engines and a visit from Governor Brown. The firemen transported the guests from their orphanage homes to a central hall where they were treated to a turkey dinner, complete with party hats and favors.

Following the dinner were four hours of entertainment, from dance teams to magicians, climaxed by Santa Claus who handed out three individually wrapped and tagged presents for each child, with the cooperation of city merchants and the club treasury.

Officers for 1961 are Mrs. Francis Ferderer, president; Dwight King, vice president; Mel Miller, treasurer; Mrs. Evelyn Williams, recording secretary, and Darvin Reiswig, corresponding secretary.

Meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at 8 p.m. in the American Legion Post 61, 15th and H streets.

Featured at a recent meeting of the Liberty Numismatic Society of San Mateo was a talk on foreign exchange by M. A. E. Temas, manager of the Foreign Exchange, Ltd. of San Francisco. Lester H. Lenz, personnel manager of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, addressed the January meeting on "The Federal Reserve System, Its Purposes and Functions."

Roy Hill has begun his third term as president; Paul D. Snedaker is vice president, and Torben Lindstrom, 2319

Hacienda St., San Mateo, secretary-treasurer.

SRO AT PALO ALTO

Peninsula Coin Club, Palo Alto, had SRO at its February meeting when Ronnie Carr made a special exhibit of California and other pioneer gold as well as U. S. gold issues. Special police protection was provided and with publicity the meeting drew 75, an all-time record—double the usual attendance.

President John Fies has promoted exhibit themes to encourage members' exhibits. With an average attendance of 30 to 40 there have been as many as 14 exhibitors.

A new club was formed in Napa Jan. 11. George Maelink, who was instrumental in getting the group together, is president. A. A. Sepersten is secretary. Roy Hill was January speaker. John D. Sears spoke Feb. 15 on "Men of America."

New officers of Hayward Arca Coin Club were officially installed at the January meeting. Buzz Bacon is president; Roger Robinson, vice president; John Stallknecht, recording secretary; Juanita Shepardson, corresponding secretary and Edna Simon, treasurer. On the board of governors are George Ackel, past president, Doris Smith, Rudy Roderick, Rennie Booth and George Squires.

The club recently adopted the policy of giving life memberships to past presidents.

Members of Pacific Coast Numismatic Society honored Cliff Liss on the occasion of his leaving office after a two-year term by presenting him with a set of four proof medallion half dollars commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Spanish-American war.

Liss also was presented with the PCNS silver medallion which is given to each outgoing president.

Clifford H. Bloom, membership chairman, reported a total of 148 members, highest figure in several years. Also reported was the exhibit record of an average of 17 exhibits at each meeting, better than one-third participation of members attending.

Other records were believed to be set when Paul Snedaker was promoted to vice president after having been treasurer for the past eight years, and for the first time in 11 years, Les Lodge holds no office. He was chairman of the nominating committee, and "nominated himself out."

Officers were installed in December with Robert G. McArthur officiating. Milton C. Strauch is president; Paul Snedaker, vice president; Mrs. Harry Cutler, secretary; John D. Sears, treasurer and Cmdr. H. F. Bowker, librarian. On the board of governors are Clifford L. Liss, past president, J. Sam Norwood, William O. Hutt and Sylvan E. Epstein.

Winners of the 1960 Numismatic Article contest are Mrs. Cecelia Hutt, first place, "Julia Domna, Roman Empress;" Milton C. Strauch, second, "California, the Golden State" and John D. Sears, third, "Men of America."

Theme of the January meeting was "Coins of Central Europe." Martin Pleskow spoke on the coinage of Austria.

East Bay Coin Club will celebrate its 13th anniversary on Friday, March 31, moved up from April because of the spring CSNA convention.

Robert G. McArthur again was installing officer at the January meeting. Taking office were Edward S. Lane, president; Paul Snedaker, vice president (is Paul making a "vice" of this?) Sidney T. Gilligan, recording secretary; Don Crosman, treasurer, and R. J. Frost, corresponding secretary. Walter Morris, Leonard Stout, Roy Hill and Norris Baldwin are on the board of governors.

Stephen Album, University of California student, has taken over as editor of The Circulated Proof.

There still are some coins to be found in circulation. Paul Wickersham of Vallejo reports finding a 1931S cent early in January and a very fine 1909S VDB only two months earlier. A teacher at Vallejo High School, Wickersham claims that a bag of coins is the best tranquilizer on the market. The Vallejo High School Coin Club, in its third year, sorts a bag of coins each week, auctioning the goodies for the club's benefit.

Denis N. Hooker was elected president of the San Jose Coin Club at its December meeting. Other officers include Rudy Gjurovich, vice president; Lillian Hooker, recording secretary; Myrthine Robinson, treasurer; Norman Prunier, corresponding secretary; Dorothy Beaulieu, librarian-historian; Barry Wagman, junior vice president, and John Cobb, John Serpa, Al Mandel and William R. Weber, board members. Austen D. Warburton was installing officer.

Clifford L. Liss was speaker for the December meeting. His topic was "United States Silver Dollars." Ronnie Carr packed them in at the January meeting with his extraordinary gold collection and Detective Sergeant John Mattern spoke on protecting coin collections from theft and robbery. He pointed out the various types of frauds perpetrated on coin collectors, legal problems encountered by those who "horse-trade" in coins and steps to take in the security of collections. "Men of America" was theme of the talk given by John D. Sears at the February meeting.

The Fresno Numismatic Society has just issued Vol. 1, No. 1 of its attractive new bulletin. No name has been given to the bulletin and Editor Everett G. Jewett has announced a contest for club members only for a title. Deadline was March 1, with a limit of one entry per member. Best five will be voted on.

Included in the content of the first issue is a partial list of lots for the next auction; advance notices of meetings of neighboring coin clubs; a list of recent "finds"; a list of some of the material stolen in the recent "Hill'n Dale" robbery and routine announcements.

The annual installation dinner was held Jan. 17 at the Outpost. Charles Peterson gave a short talk on gold, with examples from his own collection and Mayor Arthur Selland of Fresno spoke on "My Most Unforgettable Character."

Officers installed were Warren Scott, president; the Rev. Ben Le Masters, vice president; Mrs. Marilyn Hord, secretary-treasurer; Jim Hutchins, auctioneer and Everett Jewett, corresponding secretary.

At the December meeting of Central California Coin Club Col. Warren Clear, one of the club's founders and its first president, was welcomed back after a long illness. He gave an hilarious talk on donkey racing in Mexico, related his experience in walking across the Great Wall of China in 1914 (being one of the few white men to do so) and spoke of a more recent trip to Europe and Asia where he tried to buy gold coins for friends here. He found gold coins scarcer and more expensive abroad, with the best buys in Hong Kong. He mentioned that a major foreign power is making imitations of U. S. double eagles and selling them abroad.

The fourth anniversary dinner meeting of Ferndale Stamp and Hobby Club was attended by 27 members and guests. Highlight of the event was a quiz on Presidents of the United States. Silver dollars were awarded to highest scorers.

Since the membership includes both stamp and coin collectors, the club has started semi-monthly meetings, with the first stressing stamps and other hobbies, while the second is devoted entirely to the collecting and study of coins.

The club still has souvenir wooden nickels which were issued for the "Logger's Fun Days" celebration. A list of available cacheted covers sponsored by the club may be obtained from the permanent activity-director, Donald D. Lawton, P. O. Box 453, Ferndale, Calif.

Jerry Perchesky and George Dusio have opened a coin shop, specializing in plastics, in Watsonville. Their address is California Coin and Supply Co., P. O. Box 1174, Watsonville.

Prof. Charles V. Kappen, William R. Weber and Austen D. Warburton, San Jose, were subjects of an article featured in the magazine section of the San Jose Mercury-News recently.

A colored picture of Weber and coins was on cover page of the January issue. Inside, three full pages are devoted to the story, "Everyone is Interested in Money." The article contains pictures of all three men, with portions of their collections.

LINCOLN CENTS ODDITIES

Adding to the mounting list of numismatic publications, is a new 24-page pamphlet entitled "Misstrikes and Oddities in the Lincoln Cent," compiled and written by Everett G. Jewett of Fresno.

The author is a member of the Fresno Numismatic Society, of which he is corresponding secretary.

MELLINGER-OHLS

Mrs. Dolly Ann Ohls was married Dec. 10 to DeMarr Mellinger of San Francisco. The ceremony was held at the St. Francis Methodist Church in San Francisco.

—————CSNA—————

Did you know that Herbert M. Bergen, our eighth president, had 16 officers and directors to serve with him, the most for any president? For the first time, during his administration, we had a woman officer. Our first president, Dr. Calvert L. Emmons, had the least number of officials to serve with him, four the first year and nine the second.
